LEAVES ON LAST TRIP AS 'ZR-3'

Christening Ceremony of Giant Airship to Be Simple Affair Today

CARRIER PIGEONS TO BE RELEASED

New Name "Los Angeles" Painted In Flaming Letters of Red, White, Blue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.— After three unsuccessful attempts to land at Bolling Field here this afternoon, due to excessive buoyancy, the ZR-3 was finally brought to earth at 4:04 this afternoon by valving a huge quantity of helium.

A BOARD THE ZR-3 ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—

The ZR-3 took off from the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., for Bolling Field, Washington at 9:05 a. m. today.

This will be the big Zeppelin's last trip as the ZR-3.

At 2 p. m. she becomes Los Angeles—our Lady of the Angels.

The christening ceremony in Washington will be simple without the traditional bottle of champagne. When the air cruiser arrives at Bolling Field Mrs. Coolidge will pull a silken cord in the nose of the vessel, while it rests in the hands of a ground crew, releasing a trap door from which will fly a score of beautiful carrier pigeons carrying news of the newly named air queen to Anastasia Field and back to Lakehurst. "I christen thee Los Angeles," the President's wife will say as the great vessel rises to her native clouds to return to her nest in Lakehurst.

The new name already is painted in flaming letters of red, white and blue on the tough skin of the air monster.

A brilliant sun was shining, burning away the haze that hung over the New Jersey hills, as the order to cast off was given the ground crew.

Rises Like Bird

Then, as smoothly as a bird, the great airship rose into the heavens and was headed toward Philadelphia on the way to Washington.

The ground crew on the air field at Lakehurst cheered lustily as we floated upward, their voices faint above the roar of the motors, as officers gave orders for maneuvering the ship into the bright sky.

Captain Klein, commander, said we should be back in Lakehurst by 9 o'clock tonight. Weather conditions are ideal and he has complete confidence the trip will be successful.

By 9:15 we had left the air station behind and were "on our way." Commander Klein said he did not intend going to a high altitude, as a strong wind was blowing above us at 2500 feet. The start was made at about 1800 feet.

The dirigible's early speed was approximately 50 miles an hour. Lieutenant Commander J. M. Deem, U. S. N. S., was at the helm; Lieutenant Hans Fleming, a chief German pilot of the Zeppelin company and nine German elevator helmsmen and machinists were aboard.

Circles Capital

The giant's ship was flying low and slowly when it approached Washington from the southeast. It began a leisurely circuit over the city.

Navy officials said that the ZR-3 would spend some time cruising over Washington and that in spite of its early arrival the christening ceremony would not be held until the scheduled time.

MRS. COOLIDGE WILL OFFICIATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—All was in readiness at Bolling flying field here today for the arrival of the ZR-3.

President Coolidge will accompany Mrs. Coolidge to the field where she will officiate at the christening. Some 300 sailors and air station attaches were assembled at the field to assist in landing the air giant. There is no mooring mast at Bolling Field and the strength of hundreds of men will be depended upon to hold the giant ship while the christening ceremony is proceeding.

GOMPERS GIVEN HUGE OVATION ON REELECTION

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 25.—Cheering and applauding wildly, delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Labor today unanimously re-elected Samuel Gompers, 74-year-old labor leader, to head the American labor movement for another year. His entire executive council also was returned to office with him.

The council re-elected was:

First vice-president, James Dunn, Quincy, Mass.; second vice-president, Frank Duffy, Indianapolis; third vice-president, William Green, Indianapolis; fourth vice-president, T. A. Rickert, Chicago; fifth vice-president, J. J. Fischer, Indianapolis; sixth vice-president, Matthew Woll; seventh vice-president, Martin F. Ryan, Kansas City; eighth vice-president, James Wilson, Cincinnati; treasurer: Daniel T. Borkin, Indianapolis; and secretary, Frank Morrison, Washington.

The convention approved the report of the committee on international relations which disapproved of the resolution of the International Seamen's union asking that a protest be made against America joining either the league or world court, and thus the federation reaffirmed its stand in favor of the United States joining the League of Nations or world court.

Andrew Furuseth, president of the seamen's union, declared that the League of Nations had attempted to set up a "super government, especially designed to prevent the extension of human freedom," and was not establishing a seamen's code that would "perpetuate the servitude of seamen."

Detectives were ordered to search for a "strange character" reported by several residents of the Bexley district to have been calling at back doors and asking for an opportunity to enter the basement.

The man's first request was for clothing, residents said. Refused clothing, he invariably asked if he might warm himself in the furnace room of the basement.

The declaration of the convention extended sympathy to the seamen. The executive council was instructed to oppose any attempt to "invade the rights and liberties of the workers."

Atlantic City was selected as 1925 convention site by the American Federation of Labor at the conclusion of the election of officers here today.

"I hope they see her," the pastor said. "They will learn that she was not at our home for dinner but that she came in the morning at about 10 o'clock and stayed only ten minutes."

Girl Who Laughed At Love Succumbs

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Betty Williams, the dance hall girl from Seattle who laughed aside the love protests of Dominguez R. Villa, a Filipino sailor, was dead here today, succumbing to three shots fired into her body by the youth.

Miss Williams, whose real name is believed to be Mrs. Emma Hennore, died late yesterday at the General hospital. Villa is still in a critical condition from wounds received when he turned the gun on himself. He will face a murder charge if he recovers, police said.

N. Y. HERALD-TRIBUNE INDICTED BY JURY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The New York Herald-Tribune was indicted by a federal grand jury here today for publishing income tax returns. The indictments were returned to Federal Judge J. Stanley Webster of Washington, sitting here, against the New York Tribune, Inc., publishers of the Herald-Tribune, and charged that the newspaper unlawfully published and printed parts of the income tax returns.

WEAVE WEB IN FURNACE DEATH CASE

Evidence Is Being Gathered Against Unnamed Culprit, Is Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 25.—Authorities drew a web of evidence about an unnamed culprit in Sheatsley furnace mystery today and directed that every agency of the law be bent toward establishing his identity.

There is a possibility, it was learned today, that the remains of Mrs. Sheatsley, which were buried last Thursday at Paris, Ohio, may be exhumed to settle a question as to whether any bones of the head were recovered from the furnace.

The assistant undertaker who removed the remains from the furnace told Prosecutor John R. King he was practically certain the body had not been decapitated.

King, however, eager for information as to the condition of the skull, may order the remains exhumed.

King declared an end to "further theorizing" in this case and "that our most important duty now is to find out who was criminally involved."

The prosecutor left for Lithopolis early in the day to question a woman who was said to have taken with Rev. C. V. Sheatsley and his family a few hours before the pastor's wife was found smouldering in the parsonage furnace.

Before leaving King made it plain that he does not suspect the Sheatsley luncheon guest but expects to get from her "some information vital to the investigation at this time."

Comb' Parsonage

Last night the prosecutor and detectives combed the Lutheran parsonage in Bexley, where the pastor's wife's body was found.

Numerous articles of clothing, table linen and furniture bearing what the prosecutor believes to be human blood stains were placed in the hands of a chemist.

In a statement at Canton, Ohio, last night Rev. Sheatsley said the stains were rabbit blood. He had cleaned several rabbits at the parsonage after a hunting trip two days before, the pastor said.

It is now apparent that Mrs. Sheatsley was slain by someone who either shot or beat her severely before her body was placed in the furnace, King said.

This is the woman who told officers she would co-operate in every way in solving the mystery of the murder.

This is the woman who reluctantly admitted that Haerstick told her his real reason in going to San Diego was to cross to Tia Juana and get a marriage license.

Were To Be Married

They were to be married soon, she said, as soon as she secured her final divorce decree from her husband.

This is the woman who sobbed: "I loved him so. And he loved me. Just me and the baby. I am sure there is no one else."

"I am so cold," she whispered. "Death is so terrible. I wish I had not let him go away."

"When he came here last Thursday to kiss me goodbye, I clung to him and pleaded with him not to go. But he wanted to go—just for a day, he said, to San Diego."

PROGRESS IN FURNACE DEATH CASE SLOW

Killing of Haerstick May Be Added to List of Unsolved Slayings

WILL the murder of Archie L. Haerstick, Los Angeles carpenter and man of many loves, go down into the list of unsolved killings?

Faced with this possibility officials in three counties today redoubled their efforts to solve the murder and bring the killer to bay.

Without a single arrest officers have but theories to work upon in their attempt to clear up the shooting. As they sift the large number of clues and possible explanations they hope that out of the entanglement will emerge one bit of evidence which will bring about the arrest of the slayer but they admit that they do not know which one of the theories to adopt for the final drive.

The theory of "hi-jacking" has been definitely set aside.

The theory of robbery has been abandoned.

Discarding these, officers classify the remaining clues under these heads:

Haerstick may have been killed as the result of a quarrel over the custody of a three-year-old boy whose parentage is disputed by himself and a sailor.

Haerstick may have been killed by another man, spurred on at the trial of the Los Angeles contractor may have paid the murderer's wife or sweetheart.

Turn Attention To Trunk

With this latter theory in mind they today turned their attention to a trunk, said to be packed with letters, stored in the residence occupied by Mrs. Alice Tate, at 717 East Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles, where the woman sobs out her love for her fiance, the father of her three month old baby.

The majority of the other Santa Ana prisoners still are in the county jail because of their inability to pay their fines or post bail, the marshal stated, adding that these persons would remain there until the law had taken its course because new warrants charging violation of the state Wright act had been served against them. The Wright act prohibits the possession of intoxicating liquor anywhere in the state, except where official permits are granted for medicinal purposes.

The druggists and "more serious cases" will be handled on federal warrants in the federal court at Los Angeles, Rogers explained.

Those who were arrested for the alleged violation of the city liquor ordinance and who since have been served state warrants are Frank O'Camp, George Prosser, Albert Garcia, George W. Martin, Harvey Rias, John Maher, Peter B. Pappas, Mrs. Carrie Buckley, Orris Dawson, Jose Saldivar, Ivory Shields, Chano Hadwiger and William Kehr.

Lester Nelson, however, whose attorney secured his release on a writ of habeas corpus, was re-arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with violation of the Wright act. Nelson promptly posted $300 bail and again was released.

METER READER RE-ARRESTED: PUTS UP BAIL

Lester Nelson, local meter reader, is the only prisoner taken in last week's liquor raids here who will be free from confinement in the county jail here on the grounds that "possession" charges brought under a Santa Ana city ordinance had been illegally pressed because the warrants had been signed and issued by Recorder W. F. Heathman in Fullerton, City Marshal L. Claud Rogers declared to day.

The majority of the other Santa Ana prisoners still are in the county jail because of their inability to pay their fines or post bail, the marshal stated, adding that these persons would remain there until the law had taken its course because new warrants charging violation of the state Wright act had been served against them. WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Veterans are applying for the soldiers' bonus at the rate of 9000 a day, Adjutant General Robert C. Davis announces. With its post-election prosperity spurt business has passed the point where it requires diligent watchfulness and the department of commerce is now turning its attention to constructive public projects, he said.

Hoover said attention will be concentrated on the development of the St. Lawrence river, the Boulder Canyon power and similar projects.

CONFECTIONER IS COURT SUIT VICTOR

W. H. James, local confectioner, today held a superior court judgment for $2,250, with interest, court costs, and $200 attorney fees, against O. B. Davey, who purchased a confectionery shop from James at Laguna Beach and failed, it was alleged, to complete payments on the place.

Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday heard the suit brought by James and granted him judgment against Davey. The action was based on a note for $2,250. Davey, it was testified, had turned a used automobile in as initial payment and given the note for the balance. Nothing was paid on the note according to the showing made in court.

Attorney John Clarkson represented James in the case. Attorney A. B. Gardiner, who had been retained for the defense a few days ago after the original defense attorney had withdrawn, asked for continuance of the case when it came to trial yesterday. When his motion was denied, Gardiner also withdrew from the case.

Wage Award Is Made by Court

An award of $1966.17, representing a claim for unpaid wages covering a period of two and a half years was on record today in the superior court following trial of a suit brought by W. O. Brandybury against L. O. Vaughn and Howard Vaughn, partners in the Vaughn Supply company here. Judge Z. B. West tried the case.

Brandybury claimed that he had been employed by the defendants from February 1, 1919 to October 1, 1921, at a wage of $28 per week, none of which, however, had ever been paid him. The defendants made a general denial.

QUEST CONTINUES FOR SANTA ANA

Although satisfied in their own minds that in his feeble condition he fell in some canyon and perished, relatives today continued investigation of every report that indicated possible location of A. S. Cleary, 68-year-old Santa Ana man who disappeared from Forest Home, in the San Bernardino mountains on August 28.

D. T. Hayden of Tustin, son-in-law of the missing man, recounted a recent trip he made to San Francisco in search of his father-in-law. A Santa Ana painter, who had seen Cleary once or twice at his home here, recently informed Hayden that he was certain he met and talked with Cleary at San Luis Obispo, Hayden does not recall the name of the painter. At the time the painter did not know that Cleary was missing and when he learned, upon his return, of the disappearance, he advised the son-in-law of his meeting with a man in San Luis Obispo whom he believed to be Cleary. The man gave his name, as near as the painter could recall, as McLaren. He told the painter that he owned a 40-acre farm in the east. Cleary owns such a farm in Nebraska, according to the son-in-law.

Members of the family passed the last weekend at Forest Home and made further search in the canyons in the hope of finding some trace of the aged man. In the party were Mrs. Cleary, her daughter, Mrs. Harley Barnhart, of Colorado, and Mrs. Charles Cleary, of Tustin.

Style, like art or music or science, has no flag, but serves under all. We must borrow of others, and lend to others. The Old World and the New World are one world as far as correct dress is concerned. "American fashions for American men" is peripherally patriotic piffle, because it would set us apart from other races, instead of drawing all races together in the brotherhood of good taste. We can teach the English how clothes should fit. They can teach us how clothes should drape. We can teach them how to pay up their personality. They can teach us how to pay deference to the obligations of different occasions. It is a truism that everybody knows more than somebody and that the styles of the whole world are superior to those of any part of it.

With colder weather within a bird's hop, mufflers will be often worn, for added protection, looped in the once-over knot, as illustrated here. This is a style to which collegians and the legions who take their cue from them are very partial. The mufflers are bold plaid designs, silk or wool or fringed ends.

Such an effect is symptomatic of the "carefully careless" school of dress which now has many adherents among young men. It is emphasized by wearing the brim of the soft felt hat dipped down at the side, or by omitting the muffler and turning the overcoat collar out, as though one had dressed in a hurry. Whether or not such a mode of dress be acceptable is a matter for decision between a man and his mirror. This much is certain, however—nobody should attempt a style of dress that his years belies. Appropriateness to age is as important to correct appearance as appropriateness to time and place.

TURKEY PRICES IN CITY HOVER AT 45-50 CENTS

Thanksgiving turkeys and the "fixins'" that go with them are costing less this year than last.

Santa Anans are getting their turkeys this season for ten cents a pound below what they were paying in 1923 and current local prices run just a nickel a pound below those obtaining in San Francisco and the Bay cities.

A trip around the downtown district today revealed a number of features of economic interest.

At one of the market where some fine birds were being prepared for the oven the butcher rested from his task a moment to comment:

"This talk about hard times is the bunk. We are handling just as many turkeys this season as at any previous Thanksgiving. When they have money to buy turkeys like this things must be pretty good."

Inquiries at other butcher shops elicited much the same information. Although the statements were not all as optimistic as at the first place called, on there seemed to be general unanimity about business being good in the Thanksgiving trade.

The best turkeys last year were selling around 55 cents a pound. Today the price runs 45 cents for the better quality birds. In San Francisco concurrent dispatch says turkeys are commanding 50 cents a pound retail.

Quite a number of the turkeys on display here are raised in the immediate district. Others are from the Imperial Valley. Some have been shipped from Idaho.

Geese are quoted at 40 cents a pound. Ducks run from 40 to 42 cents while chickens range all the way from 35 cents to 50, the latter price being for choice, succulent fryers.

Other Thanksgiving delicacies are costing the 1924 purchaser a good deal less than in 1923.

For instance best quality plum puddings that sold for two pounds for 75 cents last season are now quoted at 53 cents. Mincemeat is selling at from 20 to 30 cents a pound which also is lower than last season.

Cranberries retail for 20 cents as compared with 25 last Thanksgiving. Sweet potatoes vary from three to four pounds for a quarter. Pumpkins at three cents a pound are much about the same as previous seasons.

LOCAL CHURCHES PLAN THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Burgess, pastor of Richland Avenue Methodist church; reading of the president's proclamation, by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church; Scripture lesson, by the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church; prayer, by the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial South Methodist church; sermon, by the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. E. CITY COUNCIL HAS TO DEFER ST. WIDENING

Lack of Deeds Necessitates Postponement of Baker Project

Contemplated widening of North Baker street from forty to sixty feet between Eighth and Seventeenth street has been blocked temporarily by discovery that the city does not have deeds to the street, it was revealed by City Engineer W. G. Knox at the city council meeting last night.

According to the city attorney usage has established the right of the city to a portion of the street, and the council directed action looking to paving of a thirty-six foot roadway between Eighth and Seventeenth. Land necessary for the widening will be acquired later by condemnation suits, it was intimated, unless owners should give deeds voluntarily.

Property owners on the street last February petitioned the council for paving, and delay has been occasioned by various propositions put forth in behalf of the widening program. It was pointed out by the city attorney that condemnation proceedings would delay the improvement for approximately a year and a half, and decision was made by the council to proceed with the paving program on a thirty-six foot street.

By authorizing John Luxemburger, fire chief, to respond upon sanction of one member of the council instead of a majority, the fire chief was placed in position to answer more quickly calls from outside the city for assistance of the Santa Ana fire department in fighting fires in near-by communities. It was made clear, however, that such assistance should be given only when a fire develops that threatens very serious damage to a community, and that fire apparatus should not be taken out of the city when a hard wind is blowing. The department recently has had a number of calls for assistance in outside districts.

The Crane company was awarded the contract for supplying the city with cast iron pipe. The company's bid was $9086.90. Katawaka and Company were given permission to locate a barber shop and restaurant on the northeast corner of Fourth and Artesia streets.

Application of H. C. Collins for permission to do automobile repair work in his garage at the rear of his residence at 611 South Broadway was referred to the police commissioner, as was also the application of George P. Graham for appointment to the police force.

R. G. Norton was given permission to install an additional 500 gallon gasoline tank at his old station at 1901 West Fifth street.

The street superintendent was directed to make alterations in the gutter at Fifth and Van Ness necessary to make the gutter effective in draining off water that accumulates following rain storms. Action was taken following complaint made by Mrs. Olive Lopez, owner of property on the northeast corner of the two streets.

AGAINST PERMIT FOR CAR MARKET

ALHAMBRA BANKER AS YET NOT FOUND

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 25.—Disappearance of William R. Fee, Alhambra banker, from Glenn ranch resort still remained a mystery today, with deputies of the local sheriff's office giving up the hunt, certain fee has left the mountains of his own free will.

Miss Mary Watkins, San Gabriel Water company employee, is reported to have gone to the resort last night to take up the hunt, following report that a suit of clothes with Fee's name inside was found in Miss Watkins' cabin.

"The suit has been there for weeks," Miss Watkins said, indignantly denying the report that Fee had been seen near her cottage. "I know Mr. Fee and when he said he was going to throw the old clothes away I told him I'd like to have them for some of the boys who might want some mountain garments."

Mrs. Fee, who offered a $50 reward for her husband's recovery, is said to have withdrawn the offer.

Auto Tires Pick Up Indian Relics

POTTSSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 21.—Some motorists who are using the Pottstown-Bowerton pike have discovered that their tires are Indian relic collectors. One man found two unusually fine specimens of flint arrowheads in a tire and another discovered that he had unknowingly become the possessor of a tomahawk head.

Lin L. Shaw and Frank Purinton of the Santa Ana Development company, directed attention to the fact that their company had spent approximately $2,500,000 in business house improvements in the vicinity of the corner, and expressed the belief that establishment of the proposed market would be detrimental to their property as well as other property in the immediate vicinity.

Will Protest Asphalt Paving, Report

Property owners on West Santa Clara avenue, between Main and Greenleaf streets, will protest improvement of that street with asphaltic concrete, it was indicated by presentation to the council last night of a petition for cement concrete work signed by the owners of 90 per cent of the frontage.

Proceeding under a former petition for the improvement of the street with "black pavement," the city engineer and city attorney had carried the legal steps to the point where protests against the work were to be heard Monday evening.

According to M. Nisson, one of the owners, all but one of the owners will sign a protest against the asphaltic work and present it at the meeting Monday night. The petition for cement concrete will then be substituted.

FORMATION OF NEW DISTRICT IS AUTHORIZED

With several property owners on the south side of Fourth street, between Spurgeon and Ross refusing to make connection with the new sewer main line on Fourth street, and others being slow in making connections, the city council last night directed City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., and City Engineer W. G. Knox, to take steps necessary for the formation of an assessment district for installation of laterals to the property line.

Installation of the main line on Fourth street was necessitated by condemnation by the state health authorities of the main line running east and west between Spurgeon and Ross in the center of the block between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Following installation of the laterals under the assessment district plan it is the announced intention of the council to give property owners a certain time in which to connect with the laterals.

Service through the old line will be discontinued at the expiration of the set date and owners who have failed to connect will be without sewer service.

According to declarations by the city attorney property owners who have failed to connect with the new line would be responsible for any damage that might result should the old line break and flood basements of business houses along its route.

West said that responsibility of the city when notice was served should be made with the new line.

The New Studebaker STANDARD SIX SEDAN

Know what's underneath
the paint before you buy

YOU wouldn't think of buying a house without first knowing how it is built and the quality of materials used. In selecting a piece of furniture you are sure to find out whether it is solid wood or veneer.

Yet many people who exercise care in most purchases buy automobiles without even lifting the hood or knowing about the hidden qualities of body and chassis construction that really determine one's satisfaction with a closed car.

We want you to know about the unseen qualities of the new Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Down underneath its superb body finish is a sturdy framework of carefully selected ash, glued together and fastened in place by screws—not nailed. Ash is scarce and expensive, but Studebaker uses it because it best combines weight and strength.

Upholstery is genuine mohair of high quality. Various grades of mohair look much alike—the big difference is in the quality.

Beneath this mohair covering are many nests of cushion springs, padded with heavy burlap, upholstery cotton and curled hair. Almost any car seems comfortable on the showroom floor, but it's quality such as this that makes the Studebaker Standard Six remain comfortable after years of service.

The same standards of excellence are maintained throughout the body and chassis. In the engine, for example, the crankshaft is completely machined on all surfaces, a practice that results in the smooth, quiet, vibrationless performance that characterizes all Studebaker cars.

Judged solely on what your eye can see—in beauty of line and finish and exterior refinements—the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan will command your instant approval.

But go deeper than that. Compare its hidden, vital qualities—its design, materials and workmanship—with cars selling for hundreds of dollars more.

Studebaker never compromises—never uses a substitute for genuine quality. Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for 72 years.

Come in and let us tell you the "inside story" of the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Miss Breckenridge Again Honored by Club Friends

Hundreds of Club-Women Assemble To Felicitate Ebell on Birthday

Miss Verdelle Breckenridge, a popular Thanksgiving bride-to-be, received all the attention of the members of the Business and Professional Women's club at their evening party last night at the hospitable home of Miss Lash, 220 Cypress avenue. The home was prettily decorated with baskets filled with yellow chrysanthemums, and a number of merry games centering about Miss Breckenridge created hilarious merriment. One of the members had composed a very thrilling story about the love affairs of the "Fair Verdelle," but the adjectives, which fitted in so beautifully, were left out and passed around to the guests, and as Miss Doris Robbins read the narrative, the members supplied the adjective, just as they came to hand, making a tale which caused shrieks of laughter. However, the original was read later, and Miss Breckenridge will preserve it as a souvenir of a most delightful occasion.

Another story, composed by asking hit and miss questions, brought much merriment. Following the games, Miss Breckenridge was presented with a beautiful Venetian lace luncheon set as a gift from the club. Quaint folksongs were then sung by the assembled guests and later the committee in charge served delicious refreshments.

Miss Breckenridge will be married to William C. Stroschein on Thanksgiving day at 4 p.m. at the United Presbyterian church. The young couple will reside in Santa Barbara, and the fact that the club will lose one of its most charming and active members caused the only hint of sadness in last evening's joyous affair.

Those participating in the pleasures of the evening besides the hostess, Miss Holly Lash, her mother, Mrs. Fannie Lash, and the honoree, Miss Breckenridge, were Vines, L. R. Crawford, Edna Timm, Elsie Lopez, James Murray, Bess Mathis, Susan M. Rutherford, Helen Steedman and Donald Hilyard; the Misses Gall Finley, Nancy Marshall, Ruth Walker, Lee Patton, Helen N. Gallagher, Helene Kubitz, Elizabeth Perkins, Lula B. Finley, Ethel B. Coffman, Elaine Wharton, Alice M. Board, Lorraine French, Beth Phillips, Lena Thomas, Doris Robbins, Louise Kaiser, Virginia Craig, Mabel E. McFadden and Mary Smart.

Will Greet Guests Thanksgiving

Among guests expected in this city for Thanksgiving are Mr. and Mrs. William Zeitz and family of Glendale who will be entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Vandivort, 509 North Bristol street.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandivort had the pleasure of entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Davis of Greeley Colo., at dinner recently. Mr. and Mrs. Davis spend their winters in California and have been so favorably impressed with Santa Ana that they will probably make this city their headquarters on this trip to the coast.

Local Friends Join
In Party Given on Anniversary

A little group of Santa Ana friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rand of Long Beach were among those who gathered at their home on Dawson avenue in that city, recently to help them celebrate their wedding anniversary which fell on Saturday, November 22.

The guests assembled at 11 a.m. and at noon an al fresco dinner was enjoyed at tables whose lovely decorations harmonized with the surrounding garden scene.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bollman of Hollywood and Mr. and Mrs. Jack McFarland of Long Beach were other out-of-town guests sharing the pleasure of the informal little affair.

Mrs. Weinrich and Mrs. Guest recently entertained with a bridge luncheon complimenting Miss Le Maire who is proving to be one of the most charming and interesting of the winter visitors in the city.

Branscomb was the tender opening number of the final song group and was followed by Terry's "The Answer;" "Invocation of Eros" by Kursteiner and a dainty fantasy, "Children of the Moon" by Warren. Mrs. Peek's accompanying was as usual, most artistic and satisfying.

Following the program the club women gathered in the banquet room where the charter members were greeted and where dainty tea services were presented over by Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Mrs. J. W. Bishop, Mrs. J. R. Medlock and Mrs. Terry Stephenson while Mrs. Bartlett was accorded the honor of cutting the handsome birthday cake prepared by D. F. Cook of the Bon Ton bakery. The cake was laden with 30 candles in rose holders and each guest was served an individual cake with a single candle and wee rose decorations, with tea and coffee.

"Club life has so broadened women that it is a great factor today in the prosperity and life of the nation. Much of the subtle propaganda against women's clubs is only because of their importance and only because of their standing in the way of so much evil and hence winning the attention of the forces of evil." After voicing a splendid faith in the younger generation, she concluded by saying "Older women are needed in club life but they should encourage the joining of young people and I would suggest a young people's annex."

Following Mrs. Bartlett's talk Mrs. Stephenson gave a brief description of that first club meeting thirty years ago at the home of Mrs. J. R. Medlock and spoke of the spirit which could organize such a club amidst conditions which prevailed.

"With no street cars, no paved roads, no rural delivery and no telephones, how did Mrs. Medlock get word to everyone?" she humorously inquired, declaring that distances were much greater then than now and relating the amusing tale of two tiny girls, Vera Heathman and Velma Medlock.

In fact the entire clubhouse was beautifully adorned with greens expressive of the holiday season. In the entrance foyer, branches of evergreen were used effectively while on the auditorium stage were wicker baskets holding graceful sprays of cotoneaster which were particularly effective against the rich velvet draperies. The same autumnal effects prevailed in the banquet room with the red-berried branches offering a charming background for the reception.

Serving the dainty birthday cakes were members of the entertainment committee including the chairman Mrs. Gene Hoff, Mrs. Charles S. Kendall, Mrs. Jay C. Hamil, Mrs. Fay Spangler, Mrs. James Metzgar, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. H. B. Van Dien, Mrs. Charles Vance and of course, Mrs. Bartlett.

Another group to which honors were accorded, comprised the members of the Past Presidents' association.

Those present were the leaders of the Past Presidents' association. Those present were the leaders of the Past Presidents' association.

Incidentally Mrs. Stephenson told of a birthday card from Mrs. Medlock with greetings attached in the form of a check for $50.

It was with the certainty of a period of sheer pleasure that the members heard the introduction of Mrs. J. E. Paul of the section outlining the aims and ideals of Ebell Gardeners and their desire to aid amateur gardeners to have the best possible blossoms and shrubs.

She spoke of the spring exhibit for which all might prepare by planning now.

Mrs. W. L. Grubb gave a most interesting report of the recent district federation meeting in San Bernardino, touching upon valuable details of the program as well as upon social features and spoke of the honors gained by Orange county with Mrs. A. P. Nelson of Ebell club named as chairman of the absolute ease with which Mrs. Bishop sings and the crystal clearness of her voice combined with a certainty of tone made her three groups delightful. The first group was a most charming one, all in English and offered the restful beauty of "the quiet twilight hour" in "Sundown" by Woodman; the joyous "Little Shepherd's Song" by Watt; "My Lover is a Fisherman" by Strickland and the mystic appeal of "The Crying of Water" by Campbell-Tipton. Recalled to the stage, the vocalist responded with Engle's "Conspirators."

Her second group was composed of foreign songs, "O Del Mio Amato Ben" by Donandy; "Im Litternden Mondlicht" Haile and "Vissi D'Arte" from Puccini's "Tosca" all showing her versatility in expression and in the three languages represented, and the French, German and Italian schools.

Science Says Glands Are Responsible for Health and Strength

Activity of certain glands is responsible for the strength, courage, fighting power and nerve force of men, is the latest opinion of science. Berman has gone so far as to analyze and classify the various types of ring favorites and famous fighters of history, and shows that such men as George Dixon, Bat Nelson, Jack Dempsey and Napoleon were possessed of unusually active glands.

It is the function of the glands to pour into the blood their vitalizing secretions which stimulate vitality and energizing force.

Glandtones, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. It is especially for men and women. C. S. Kelly Drug store and Park Drug store will supply you. Mail orders accepted.

EDITOR AND WIFE DISPUTE PROPERTY

The oft-repeated marital woes of Rolla W. Ernest, publisher of the Anaheim Plain Dealer, were bared once more to the public gaze today, Ernest having filed suit in the superior court to set aside two property agreements, made under promises of "love and affection."

Ida M. Ernest, his wife, whom he described as a "vigorous and buxom female of robust physique," failed wholly to keep her bargain as to the love and affection, it was alleged. Instead she used caverwoman tactics, he accused, by shaking him and bumping his head against the wall, or throwing him to the floor and pummeling him, and lashing him with a strap handed her by Mrs. Ada Webster, Ernest's mother-in-law.

His son, Ward, 23, who is also a defendant in the action, was charged with having failed to keep his promises of filial devotion, by verbally abusing and threatening his father.

Ernest had signed the two agreements concerned, after incidents of marital discord, when he thought to purchase peace and quiet and appease his family by transferring property and cash to them, he stated in effect. The consideration for such transfer was to be love and affection and kindly treatment of him. Not having received this, he alleges, he demands cancellation of the agreements and restoration of the property transferred.

Reciting the marital record of the Ernests, including their first marriage in 1889, their divorce in 1902, their remarriage to others and, in 1920, their remarriage to each other, the complaint also contains a list of criminal and civil suits that have marked the rift in the family. A charge of assault and battery made by Mrs. Ernest against him, after she had painfully beaten him, he said, a suit brought by Ward Ernest against his father and his partner, Paul Hester, a suit for separate maintenance filed by Mrs. Ernest and a subsequent suit for divorce, which was denied her, were listed.

The complaint also mentioned a suit brought against Ernest by his father, Henry Ernest. By an agreement in 1911, by which the elder Ernest transferred various newspaper stocks to his son, the latter agreed to provide a permanent home for the father. After Mrs. Ernest remarried the publisher and came to live in Anaheim, she once beat her father-in-law so violently, it was alleged, that he considered the son's agreement violated and filed suit to recover the property transferred. It cost Ernest $22,500 in cash and other considerations to settle the suit, he said.

The property involved in Ernest's suit against his wife and son, includes the Ernest home at 1305 West Center street, Anaheim, another parcel of Anaheim property, a $5,000 note of the Anaheim Citrus Fruit Association, and various cash sums, one of $500 and others, under an agreement which required Ernest to pay his wife $100 per month for three years.

Ernest charged his wife with encouraging their son to file the civil suit he brought against Ernest and Hester. In that connection Mrs. Berman remarked, it was claimed, that "If Ward can't collect that way, he has two guns that he knows how to handle."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove it.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you can take them to your doctor. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Proprietary Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are pleasant to take, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of being non-griping. A box is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Manufacturer, General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat. You can reduce steadily and easily with Proprietary Tablets, by sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet with fear of bad effects. Get a box and start getting slender.

Millions of Car Owners depend on them

WHEN you are asked to buy a tire you know nothing about, remember this—

The finest tire you can buy—the Royal Cord—is lower in price today than tires of unknown make and uncertain quality used to be.

The new USCO Cord—a handsome, all-black tire with a modern, broad, flat, non-skid tread—sells for even less. Thousands of dealers all over the country handle these products of the United States Rubber Company. Millions of car owners have proved their service.

Both Royal Cords and USCO Cords are very closely priced. Shopping around among the brands can't save you any money worth the trouble—for every dollar you save you will have to compromise more than a dollar's worth in quality and service.

And please remember that every tire and tube in the U. S. Line bears the U. S. trade mark. It is there for the protection of both car owner and tire dealer.

SELECT CAST FOR PLAY AT GARDEN GROVE

BY MARIAN MARSH.
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH

Austin Bevans has been willed, by his uncle, a girl's school which by agreement, he is to have charge of, until one of the girls falls in love with him.

Austin, who is remarkably good looking, decides to teach the girls the art of being charming, instead of having them study Latin and grammar, much to the delight of the girls.

Mr. Bevans schools them in dancing, smiling, ukulele playing, and such things; so that instead of the girls having to go home after graduation, they will all get married.

Elsie Benedotti just about ruins everything, when she falls in love with Austin, and he always avoids her, but it leaks out anyway. In the last scene, the things change, and of course they kiss and make up.

As a preparation for this play work, the class has worked on speeches, and practicing selling different articles, such as toothpicks, mouth organs, chewing gum, poker cards, cough medicine, and magazines.

2 EXPLOSIONS IN LABORATORY ARE REPORTED

Manufacture of Oxygen
Sans Means of Outlet
Leads to Chemistry Blast

By EARL BASHOR.
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL,
Nov. 25.—The glass had hardly settled and the echoes of the explosion were still in the air when one of the chemistry students of T. U. H.
S. conducted his mother to the door.
"This is visitors' day, but don't visit here, go visit some other class," and with these words he escorted her out of the laboratory.

What was the reason for the anxious student's worry?

This, when the parents visited
T. U. H. S. Nov. 18, two serious explosions took place in the Chemistry laboratory. Up to this time there had been few accidents, the only serious one was when Anay Carroll and his partner succeeded in reducing their deposit by a few dollars on the breakage of some glassware. Test tubes, or a few ruined rubber stoppers completed the rest of the list up to Visitors'
day. But on that day the fun began.

First about six tons (according to Stanley Alexander who was watching the experiment) of glass were hit the ceiling and splattered the amateur chemists with glass and the contents of the flask.

Later two girls tried to produce oxygen without furnishing a means of exit for the oxygen and the Pyrex test tube joined the nether regions of defunct test tubes. The results were: Mrs. Beard, visitor, was cut around the face by flying glass and one of the chemists,
Marion Smith also received minor injuries.

"During my twenty years of teaching chemistry those were the first explosions that ever occurred in my classes," stated Mr. Kyle, chemistry instructor at T. U. H. S.

Practically every seat in the auditorium was filled, which indicated that the people have recently shown their appreciation of having in the community such talented young people. Truly remarkable ability was shown in presenting a program over three hours in length consisting of at least one act from the fourteen organizations of the school.

The first number on the program was "Miller Drummer" given by eight girls: Hilda Arkley,
Marie Everett, Eulah Hapes,
Esther Guyon, Norma Larson, Sitha George, Cynthia Kervin and Doreida Kenworthy, representing the Girls' league.

Secondly two members of the faculty, Miss Helen Curtiss and Paul Spring, sang. They were accompanied by Mrs. H. O. Smith.

Third came "Dolphins" Musical Fins, consisting of fifteen seniors. The numbers given by them were, "The Fish's Song" by I. C. A. Hook, and "On-Kor" by Us-All. They were presented by a lonely bunch of lemons by Emerson and Lewis Head.

Fourth were two songs given by Sophomores: "Just Like a Gypsy" and "My Gypsy Love Song."

As the fifth number the Pep
Staff gave a take-off from "Carmen".

Sixth was an Irish dance given by a couple of skeeters, Norma Larson, with her shovel, and Mildred Dunlap, with a rolling pin, accompanied by Kate Kirvin, Violinist, and Evelyn Velzy, pianist. A number of other skeeters gave speeches.

As the seventh number the junior girls gave a one-act play, "Foot Lights". Leighton Phillips and Alvin Wisner, (the curtains) in and Alma Knight, (the scenery) Cartwright Smith, James Parks and Tom Jentges, (the passer of time) Frances Bragg.
The characters were (hero) Earl Walker, (hero) Edith Doos-ing, and (hero) Clyde Collins.

As the eighth number the girls' basket ball team gave a few marches and stunts and songs.
They were dressed as tramps

While you're considering practical gifts, may we implant this thoughtful suggestion in your mind:

Take any amount—from $1.00 up—open a Savings Account in the Farmers & Merchants and give it the place of honor on the list of gifts you make this Christmas.

Such a gift, coming from father to son or daughter, say, may be the seed of thrift upon which will depend the prosperity of these younger members of your family.

We're speaking about it at this early time so that you may think it over and plan for it.

GLENN HUNTER WITH NEW SHOW, TEMPLE

Mary Roberts Rinehart's Saturday Evening Post story, "The Altar on the Hill," is the foundation of Frank Lloyd's production of "The Silent Watcher," a First National picture with Glenn Hunter and Bessie Love, commencing a week's engagement at the Temple theater.

The story deals with the efforts of Joe Roberts, a young secretary to John Steele, lawyer and politician, to protect his employer from scandal, to assume the burden of responsibility for a murder he knew nothing of, and to hold the faith of his wife. Those who have viewed the photoplay are of the opinion that it is one of the most brilliant displays of dramatic achievement in some time and that Hunter and Miss Love demonstrate extraordinary ability in the interpretation of the principal characters.

Hobart Bosworth, as Senator John Steele, and Alma Bennett, as Lily Elliott, a musical comedy soubrette, head the supporting cast which includes such other well-known players as Gertrude Astor, DeWitt Jennings, Lionel Belmore, George Nichols, Aggie Herring and Brandon Hurst.

"THE GOLDFISH" ONE OF STAR'S BEST COMEDIES.

Come once again Miss Constance Talmadge at her very best in the sort of comedy that is ideally suited to her talents—comedy of the liveliest description with plenty of opportunity for the star's unusual talents. We believe that "The Goldfish," which opened last night at the West End theater, is the very best comedy in which the star has appeared for some time, and one of the best she has ever made.

"The Goldfish," which is a First National picture, was adapted from the Broadway stage success by C. Gardner Sullivan and directed by Jerome Stahl.

Miss Talmadge has the role of a piano-picker in a Coney Island dance hall. However, by judiciously marrying and re-marrying she climbs the ladder of success until she attains a summer home in Newport, a town house on Fifth avenue, a private yacht and a fleet of motor cars.

But with success achieved, she finds that she is unhappy, and that, after all, she still loves her old sweetheart and first husband, the Coney Island song plunger.

The song plunger, played by Jack Mulhall, although he has been divorced by the ambitious Constance, doesn't lie down and die, No, indeed! Instead, he determines to make good on his own account. And he does.

In the picture Constance has four husbands and two other would-be husbands who are dropped in most amorous style.

If you like Miss Talmadge in her type of saucy, modern flapper, then you will not miss this one. We can assure you there are enough laughs to satisfy anyone, and the theme is right up to the minute. As to the goldfish, well we will hold that in reserve, as we do not wish to spoil the surprise for you.

Besides Miss Talmadge and Jack Mulhall there is an excellent cast, every member of which adds their quota of fun to the piece.

SENATOR WARREN TO AID CURTIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Senator Warren, Wyoming, in line for the Republican leadership of the Senate, has withdrawn from the race and will support Senator Curtis, Kansas, present Republican whip, for the position at the Republican caucus Friday, it was learned.

Senator Wadsworth, New York, who was a candidate also, withdrew from the race, thus apparently assuring the election of Curtis.

Warren was said to feel his duties as chairman of the appropriation committee were too heavy for him to take the leadership which would have fallen to him under the seniority rule of the Senate.

Mrs. John Pennyton's sedan looked seedy. "What'll I do," she wailed. I'm broke. Then she found out. Kerfoot's Gene Morris One-Day Auto Painting System made it new again. She had plenty of money. Drive in. 410-412 West 5th street.

No More Hair on Face

Here's a remarkably new, easy way to remove instantly unsightly embarrassing hair from the face, neck, back and all. No muss, no odor, no slightest injury to the skin, no growing back of hair stronger and heavier than ever. Quick, soothing, guaranteed absolutely harmless.

This marvelous new discovery, called Karna, is a combination of rare Oriental oils. When applied it draws the hair pores, penetrates towards the hair pores, loosens every hair, and gently eases it out, leaving the skin clear, white, healthy and soft as velveteen.

Karna is based upon proved scientific principles and is highly recommended by beauty specialists and sold on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction by Givens-Cannon Phyo., Haddon-Jean Drug Co., Parson's Drug Store, White Cross Drug Co., adv.

TAXICAB RACES LATEST THRILL IN BLAZE PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 25.—The boms vivants of Paris have evolved a new sport. It should be understood, and might be played, in any traffic-congested city in the world. It is thrilling because it is hazardous and offers a wide range of gambling possibilities.

When "the jansant" gets dull or the roulette come too fast in the late afternoon a gay party will suggest a taxicab race. Participants agree to leave the place at some time and separate at the door. Each hails the first available taxi-cab and directs the driver to an identical and pre-arranged destination outside of the busy sections of the city. Each keeps his cab and returns as quickly as possible and the first person back into the cafe takes first place money.

It is a sport inspired by the traffic difficulties of Paris, and at the same time affords some fresh air. It is a pure sporting game because a Paris taxi-driver, making all possible speed, will take amazing chances to the thrill of risk or life and limb. Members of the party remaining behind can easily make a book on the order in which their friends will finish, and horse-racing is a dull sport compared to this. Probably no two drivers will take the same course to the objective, and all are subject to monetary persuasion so the science of the game may readily be imagined.

It is a fair commentary on prevailing traffic conditions. Downtown congestion at busy hours has reached an alarming state and public works officials seem unable adequately to cope with it. The problem is one of the most serious of civic life here.

The motorization of Paris has come within a very few years with the result that facilities and the community discipline, and the public temper, are quite unprepared for it. Every day hundreds of accidents occur, and while most of them are simple cases of automobiles bumping each other, the growing list of traffic mortality has become alarming.

As early as 1920, Paris had practically no system of traffic control. The traffic passed at such corners as the Place de l'Opera without police guidance. Finally traffic policemen were posted, but the hardy pioneers lived lives of extreme hazard, and only relentless prosecution brought a semblance of discipline on the part of the drivers. Then the city spent a tidy sum on the installation of safety zones, which consisted of red strips of pavement as passageways across streets at corners, but within the course of a few hours traffic obliterated the color scheme and trustful pedestrians had to step as lively as ever. Mounted police were installed, but the horses have never been able to catch up with the offending motorists. Now progressive measures of American cities are being studied and one method, a modified system of New York's signalling plan, has just been adopted. It is operating on the main boulevards with indifferent success, and officials realize that it must speedily be supplemented by further drastic reforms.

BIG TEN SCHEDULES WILL BE CHANGED

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—General dissatisfaction with the clouded championship" of the Big Ten football conference won by the University of Chicago this year may force the schedule makers to make radical changes in their plans when they meet here early in December.

Coach Stagg's Maroons with only a mediocre team, went through six conference games undefeated and since every other big ten team was beaten at least once, Chicago claims the title.

But Chicago was tied with Illinois, Ohio State and Wisconsin. The only games the Maroons won were against Indiana, Purdue and Northwestern—teams generally rated at the bottom of the heap.

They did not meet Michigan, Iowa or Minnesota and the general feeling prevails that at least two of these teams could have beaten Chicago. Missouri defeated the Maroons before the conference season opened.

News From Orange County

SEES NEWPORT OIL FIELD AS LEADER SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 25.—The local oil field will become one of the leading pools of the state within a few months, according to Sherwood Wallace, prominent operator of Los Angeles and Oklahoma, who was here today looking over the district.

The fact that wells are small producers and the gravity is low should not deter drilling operations, Mr. Wallace says.

"I have been told that one of the reasons why the Standard, Union, Shell and other big companies have not come in is because of the low gravity," said Mr. Wallace today. "As a matter of fact, the deep sands have not been thoroughly tested out and I am convinced that if they were, oil of high gravity would be found."

The first wells that were brought in on the east slope of Signal Hill were comparatively small producers and the gravity was quite low. But when the Shell and the other big operators started going to 4500 and 5000 feet, they secured larger wells and higher gravity oil."

This morning Mr. Wallace visited the Newport Petroleum company's well, where Tom Sharkey is installing apparatus to dig a six-foot shaft at a 45 degree angle into the oil sand. According to Mr. Wallace, operators all over the state are interested in the project, which is believed to be the first attempt to secure oil by the mining.

Mr. Wallace admitted that he is negotiating for acreage in the Newport field but declined to divulge its whereabouts. According to the Los Angeles man, a number of oil operators have scouts in the district investigating the possible trend and looking for available land.

FULLERTON BOYS WINNING 'SPURS'

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—Many new and excellent features are expected to be added to the new $125,000 gymnasium to be built at the Fullerton Union high school as a result of the trip north by Louis E. Plummer, principal, and W. J. Travers, trustee, of the school, who inspected many high schools with a view to incorporating locally any idea that appears beneficial and an improvement over present plans.

Many high schools were visited by the two men, including Taft, Berkeley, San Mateo and Palo Alto. The Junior college at Modesto was also inspected by the visitors.

A report from the two returned men shows that excellent work is being done at the University of California and Leland Stanford by former high school students of Fullerton. About thirty of these students were visited.

LAUD H. S. GLEE CLUB PROGRAM

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—Urgent requests from over all the Southland for a return engagement of the Fullerton Union high school Boys' Glee club have been received at the Hollywood studio of KNX, new broadcasting station in Los Angeles.

The club, which was on the air Saturday afternoon, was received with much enthusiasm by radio fans and Miss Helen L. Wishard, director, has arranged a return engagement for Thursday, Dec. 4, from 6 until 7:30 p. m.

Correction In H. B. News Item Is Made

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 25.—Through an error, a statement of L. W. Blodget, local attorney which was published in The Register yesterday, in effect, that Charles G. Boster, a member of the city council who is being backed by the recall element here, was convicted of fraud by Blodget before Judge Williams in the superior court of Santa Ana.

The statement should have read that Boster was found guilty of fraud in a case against him being tried by Blodget, and that judgment was rendered against him by Judge Williams.

SERVICE CLUBS TO PRESS R. C. DRIVE

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—With several hundred dollars already collected the local Kiwanis and Rotary clubs will enter the field for the rest of the week to put over with a rush the Red Cross campaign to fill Fullerton's quota.

A vote of thanks is extended by W. J. Carmichael to those who have already assisted in the campaign and particularly to those women of the city who have so unstintingly given of their time that the local chapter might have sufficient funds to go ahead with its work of mercy for the ensuing year.

There is little doubt but that with the popular clubs in the field for the rest of the week the campaign will end with the quota filled if not exceeded.

MORTGAGE TO BE DESTROYED BY YACHTSMEN

Newport Harbor Club Will Hold Annual Election of Officers Dec. 6

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 25.—Annual election of officers of the Newport Harbor Yacht club will take place on December 6, it was learned today from J. A. Beck, rear commodore of the organization. A mortgage burning ceremony will take place at the same meeting.

Directors of the club met at the clubhouse November 22 for the purpose of transacting necessary business. The report of the secretary, Leon Heesemann, showed that the organization is in excellent financial condition, being entirely out of debt.

In the absence of Commodore W. Starbuck Fenton and Vice Commodo William Warmington, Rear Commodore Beck presided. Fenton is confined to his home due to an accident three weeks ago and Mr. Warmington was unable to be present because of a business engagement.

Several entertainment features are being planned for the December 6 meeting by George Vibert, chairman of the entertainment committee.

SPECIAL TAX PUT ON SLOT MACHINES

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 25.—Protests against the candy slot machines wherein minors were said to have been deprived of their spending money, has culminated in the passage of a city ordinance placing a license on such vending devices.

Considerable discussion was had some weeks ago when the machines were first brought out. With every nickel played out, candy mints were given, but where brass checks were played nothing of value was forthcoming.

The ordinance, which was passed by the Board of Trustees, provides that every person who shall have in his possession or under his control, a vending machine for the purpose of using or permitting its use by another, shall pay an annual license of $20.

To provide a penalty of thirty days imprisonment or a fine of $100, while every operation of the machine shall constitute a separate offense.

As there are about fifty of these machines in the city of Newport Beach it will either result in considerable more revenue for the city or many of the machines will disappear as City Marshal J. A. Porter announces he will enforce the ordinance to the letter when it becomes effective in thirty days.

Miss Leila Chaffee teacher in Ontario, and Miss Velta Barnes of Pomona college visit their parents here over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abbott of Los Angeles were weekend guests at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Arkley.

H. B. to Present Radio Program

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 25.—A special night has been arranged for the local chamber of commerce to present a "Huntington Beach program" over the Times Radio broadcasting station KHZ in Los Angeles. It was announced today at the regular meeting of the chamber of commerce. The advertising and publicity committee of the organization is in charge of the program for the evening which has been set for Dec. 11. D. M. Peters will assist in the staging of the program.

DEFINITION OF EDUCATION IS GIVEN IN TALK

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 25.—"Education is being able to feel at home in any environment in which you find yourself," declared Mrs. Nora Howard of Huntington Beach in an address delivered at the Auditorium on the subject, "Higher Ideals for Girls." The three watch words and seven laws of the Campfire Girls were used to bring out the thought of all around development. "It is not a sin to fall but it is a sin not to try," concluded Mrs. Howard.

Members of the Reher family presented the musical part of the program. The boys, Sven and Kurt, were at their best Friday night and both Mrs. Howard and S. C. Hartranft voiced their appreciation of the young musicians, who were accompanied on violin and cello by their mother.

Hartranft drew a sharp contrast between the educational advantages enjoyed in the two Americas and related personal experiences in the Amazon valley where the one outlet for a boy's pent up energy was the management of a long-horned skiff.

Referring to the institution of Education Week, Mr. Hartranft declared: "Instead of one week we need fifty-two weeks. Too many of us are weak on a knowledge of that important subject and every one who lives is an instructor whether he chooses to be or not."

"The reason that the Government has undertaken that 22,000,000 children in the United States shall have a free education," continued the speaker, "is that the boys and girls may be elevated to a brighter and better outlook on life and raise the standard of manhood and womanhood."

Concentration on a few subjects, according to Hartranft, is more desirable than the scattered information obtained on the twenty-seven subjects required in the present educational system.

"The desirability of California as a teaching field gives this State the choice of the very best teachers in consequence; and it is not better teachers but more practicable methods that we must seek," stated Mr. Hartranft.

Two interesting lectures with stereopticon slides were delivered on "Peru, the Old and the New" yesterday in the auditorium by George Lewis Cooper, former American vice-consul in South America.

As the concluding number on the Educational Week program, Professor William F. Huff, Principal of Luther Burbank school, Long Beach, will deliver an address at the Auditorium Sunday night.

MOTHER DEAD, ESTATE WAITS ON BOY HERE

SEARCH IS STARTED FOR HEIR APPARENT TO FORTUNE IN CLEARWATER, KANSAS

FULLERTON. Nov. 25.—Found murdered with a knife wound in her side in a lonely cabin on the banks of Lake-of-the-Woods, a few miles from the Canadian border in Minnesota, the scene suddenly shifts to Fullerton in quest of an heir apparent to the fortune left by the woman in Clearwater, Kan.

The search has been started in Fullerton or northern Orange county for Lawrence Elliott, a former husband of the woman, and a young son, the probable heir.

Elliott was reported to have been divorced from his wife eight years ago and was known to have lived in Fullerton or vicinity. His former wife, a bride of but three weeks when she was murdered by unknown assailants, was a cousin of Mrs. G. S. Watkins of 334 East Avenue, and who has started the search for Elliott and the young son of the murdered woman.

Members of the Reher family presented the musical part of the program. The boys, Sven and Kurt, were at their best Friday night and both Mrs. Howard and S. C. Hartranft voiced their appreciation of the young musicians, who were accompanied on violin and cello by their mother.

Hartranft drew a sharp contrast between the educational advantages enjoyed in the two Americas and related personal experiences in the Amazon valley where the one outlet for a boy's pent up energy was the management of a long-horned skiff.

SUPERVISORIAL DISTRICTS

While certain Congressmen may worry more or less because Congress has failed to re-district the country, and while certain Southern California politicians, and some who are not from Southern California, fret and fume spasmodically because the State Legislature cannot be persuaded to make a re-alignment of assembly and senatorial districts, no such worry seems to have attacked our Board of Supervisors.

A few years ago we heard a good deal about redistricting in Orange County. At that time, the second district was rather shy on assessment totals. It needed more road money. It favored a shoestring strip that would have given its assessment roll access to some of the rich oil lands in the northern end of the county. Along came the discovery of oil at Huntington Beach, and forthwith the second district failed to worry over re-districting. To help out the taxpayer, it had oil wells of its own.

Under the law, supervisorial, assembly, state senatorial and congressional districts are supposed to be made up in accordance with population. Practically, so far as supervisorial districts in this county is concerned, supervisorial districts find themselves satisfied to let well enough alone as long as they have whatever money they need for local road purposes.

That the five supervisorial districts in this county no longer conform to the legal theory of population is shown in the registration figures published in The Register yesterday. The first district, comprising practically all of Santa Ana and no more, for the November election had a registration of 11,274. The second district, including Huntington Beach, Seal Beach, Garden Grove, Talbert and other precincts, had a total of 5,720 voters. The third district, which is the north end of the county, presented a registration of 14,438. The total for the fourth district, which includes Orange, Olive, Villa Park and El Modena, was 4,982, and the total for the fifth district, in which Tustin, El Toro, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach, Delhi, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach and Greenville are located, was 4,933.

Since the total registration was 41,349, it appears that the average for the five districts would be around 8,250.

So long as everybody is perfectly content with the way the districts are outlined, far be it from The Register to stir up any agitation. This editorial is not meant to stir up anybody; it is merely pointing out a situation that is of real interest to those who study the affairs of the county. If Santa Ana and the north end of the county with a combined population of five-eighths of the total population of the county are satisfied with a supervisorial organization whereby they have two-fifths of the representation on the Board of Supervisors, surely the rest of the county will have nothing to say; if Santa Ana and the north end of the county are satisfied, as they apparently are, there is nothing further to be said about it. We will go right along as we have for so many years, living in peace and harmony, which is a state of living devoutly to be wished in any county.

RUSSIA'S "FOURTH"

On November 7, Russia celebrated its "Fourth of July," or as some Europeans call it, her "Bastille Day." To an intelligent American or Frenchman, there is bitter irony in coupling the Russian festival with either of those glorious days of liberation.

It was on November 7 that the "proletarian revolution" was accomplished. That is to say, it was on that day in 1917 that the Bolsheviks overthrew the republic established by Kerensky.

To celebrate the original revolution, which overthrew czardom and established a Russian republic, would have been understandable to the outer world. Free men and women, in America and France and everywhere else, could join the Russians in rejoicing over that change. But to celebrate the plunge from a free republic, promising such blessings as America and France enjoy, into a Bolshevik despotism, that is something incomprehensible to a world which has seen Bolshevism's tragic failure.

UNIVERSAL ENGLISH

If the sun never sets on the British Empire, neither does it ever set on the English language. In addition to the British dominions where English is the common speech, there are the United States and its possessions.

A writer in the London Mail calls public attention to the rapid spread in use of English. In 1801 only about 20,500,000 people spoke English. In 1890 the number had increased to 111,000,000. Today it is around 170,000,000, and rapidly increasing. By the year 1950 this number may be doubled.

Russian, Chinese and Spanish are the nearest rivals to English as a popular language. The first two are not considered serious rivals because of their cumbersomeness and also because their use is not growing now.

Spanish is the principal language of America south of the United States, and the numbers of persons using it are increasing as the population of the Latin-American countries increases. Still, it lacks one element of growth which English possesses.

Practically all over the world English is regarded as an important language. It is taught in many of the schools of almost all the civilized nations. Educated representatives of the Oriental nations learn English as do those of Europe.

It really looks as if English had a fairly good chance to be the universal language.

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY

The excitement over the publication of income taxes is dying down. There is considerable criticism of the publication, and of the law providing for publicity, but no critic pretends that any tragedy has occurred. It is evident that such publicity as there has been has done little harm, even if it has not done much good.

Nearly everybody glances over such tax lists as are printed, from curiosity. But also nearly everybody realizes now that the lists mean little. If any particular taxpayer is credited with paying a large sum, it is self-evident that he has a large income, but it is impossible to say how large. If he is credited with a small tax, there is no telling anything definite about his income. Legitimate exemptions are always an unknown factor, so that there is no computable relation between the tax paid and the income it represents. Still less is the tax paid an index to the wealth owned by the taxpayer, because for any particular year his books may show little or no profit on his capital.

Uncle Sam alone is capable of interpreting income taxes, because he possesses the full statements of incomes, expenditures and exemptions. If private citizens had access to the complete returns, it would be a different matter; but the law does not authorize that, and there is no prospect of it.

Many cases of injustice have occurred, no doubt, because of the misinterpretation to which some unexpected small tax returns have been liable. Yet on the whole, publicity may be a good thing. If it does not expose tax-dodgers, at least it stimulates a natural tendency on the part of taxpayers to show the public that they have as much income as their neighbors. Returns will probably be nearer the truth next year for this reason, with less resort to questionable exemptions.

Partaker Is Included

At last the prohibition enforcement bureau in Washington has opened its head to the reception of an idea which should have come to it long ago. It is an old idea that "the partaker is as bad as the thief." This principle is recognized in law in several ways by holding equally guilty those who assist in the commission of a crime even if not one of its actual perpetrators. Receivers of stolen goods are also held criminally liable. This principle is involved in a act of Congress passed in 1922, providing a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for two years for one who purchases smuggled goods. Anybody who buys imported liquor—not the falsely labeled stuff which kills at long range, but the real goods—knows he is buying smuggled liquor, because none can be imported for beverage purposes legally. He cannot plead ignorance of its character. He may not know just who smuggled it or how, but that somebody did so is a certainty.

It is this law that is now to be invoked against the possessors of imported liquor. Enforcement of it may hit hard some of those who have been "sitting pretty" up to this time. It may boost the moonshine business some, because purchasers of imported goods in the past may fear to do so in the future and turn to the local product and take their lives in their hands or place them in the hands of bootleggers. The fact that prosecution in the past has been chiefly confined to moonshiners and bootleggers has made buyers of illicit stuff feel quite safe. That feeling is due to depart, if the cooperation noted above actually gets into good working order and buyers are prosecuted under the smuggling law by the treasury department instead of under the Volstead act by the department of justice.

Modern Road Building

Almost over night road builders are awakening to the fact that one of the surest ways to prevent highway accidents is to widen the road grades from fence to fence more like a street instead of digging great ditches at the sides of the road and banking up the center like a railroad grade. The amount of dirt moved is practically the same so no additional expense is involved.

The new type of road is much safer as a motorist feels more at ease on it than he does on the old turnpike style of construction. The mere fact that he does not feel as nervous about running off the grade reduces the danger of accidents for he is inclined to drive straighter and not "wobble" in passing another car.

It is the same proposition as when you walk a narrow plank across a creek, you are inclined to think you are going to fall off. Put an additional plan on each side of the one you are walking, and you can walk the single plane between the other two without any hesitancy. A wider road grade gives the same feeling to an automobile driver.

This makes a safer road than merely widening the paving. This common sense idea coupled with time tested methods of paving which are now being used in the West and which recognizes the necessity of a shock absorbing type of road paving to absorb the traffic impact, will give the traveling public better and safer roads and assure the taxpayer a great deal more for his money than in the past.

Resists Baseball

The United States can force its sewing machines upon the world, but it is not so easy with her sports.

The New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox tour of Europe has developed what theatrical circles would call a "frost."

The first and only game in Ireland, played in Dublin, attracted a "crowd" of twenty people, while the two teams carry twenty-seven men. The remainder of the Irish tour was thereupon canceled.

Paris did but slightly better, for in the French capital only one thousand people, mostly Americans, took the trouble to see the famous teams perform.

Baseball, if it is to become the world-wide sport as this country so confidently predicts, must win its way slowly, for apparently Europeans are well content with their own games.

The wide interest in baseball in this country was due to the newspapers, which by tons of printed pages educated the public to an interest in the game, and having educated them thereto, must now feed the voracious appetite they created.

Foreign newspapers probably could achieve the same result, but they will not, because of pride in their own sports for one reason and total lack of interest among the people for another.

The day of international baseball games of importance is still far away.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE THYROID AND THE RAPID HEART BEAT
During the examination of recruits for overseas service, the matter of goiter was closely watched. If there was an enlargement of the thyroid gland, then a search was made for other symptoms, such as tremor, bulging eyes, and rapid heart action.

Where there was but the enlarged thyroid gland and the rapid heart, there was just the question as to whether or not it was safe to let the man go overseas. In other words, ten years ago, the rapid heart action was thought to be due to the enlarged thyroid.

In some of these cases there was a definite amount of infection in the teeth and tonsils, and these men were advised to get these conditions cleared up. The extraction of teeth, and the removal of the tonsils, had rather striking effects.

In some, the thyroid did not get perceptibly smaller, and yet the heart action became slower, normal in fact. In others, the thyroid became normal and the heart also. This gave a new light on things, because it showed that the enlarged thyroid was not the direct cause of the rapid heart, but that the heart action was increased, and the thyroid enlarged by the same thing,—namely, poison in the blood.

Any poison in the blood is going to disturb the heart action, causing a fast and often irregular beat, because the muscle of the heart can be affected just like any other tissue in the body. Now although most of the simple goiters are caused by a lack of iodine in the system, this knowledge that poison from any infected part of the body may be causing this is certainly worth knowing.

Further, the rapid heart action, or irregular action that has been mystifying or worrying you, may be due to some simple affection from teeth, tonsils, sinuses about the nose, gall bladder, or intestine. Let your doctor look you over.

Romance of Aluminum

Helium has had wide publicity from the Shenandoah's flight; aluminum, which makes possible the performances of both the Shenandoah and the ZR-3, seems scarcely to have its just due. "Aluminum is the foundation of duralumin, the metal basis of modern lighter than air sky cruisers," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters at Washington, D. C. "The metal usually hides the light of its powers, such as the blowing up of Ivy Ridge, under bushes of other names and it is a 'rookie' among the old time major league metals."

"Iron, copper, tin, zinc and lead did service to man earlier than the birth of Christ. Aluminum will be only 100 years old in 1927. Seventy years ago aluminum sold for $7 an ounce and was advertised as 'silver from clay.' Even the 7,300 tons produced in 1920 must be multiplied 25 times to approach last year's total, while the 'silver' of the sixties sells now for two cents an ounce."

Most Prolific of Metals.
"To play a joke on a jeweler for weight it offers twice as smooth a road for transporting electricity as copper. For its virtue of radiating heat more rapidly than iron or most other metals, and for its lightness, automobile makers welcome it. Because it absorbs heat quickly, is light and does not rust, it is used for utensils. On western alkali plains, however, it turns black and comes off in flakes."

"Under certain circumstances aluminum has a violent affection for oxygen. This quality workmen employ in making molten metal on the spot. When you see a hooded man working in a brilliant light on the street car track he is employing the thermite process. A mixture of aluminum powder and iron oxide (rust) is ignited with magnesium. In a violent effort the aluminum robs the iron of oxide; the iron liquifies in the terrific temperature attained, 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit, within 30 seconds, and welds the rails. This temperature approaches the heat of the steel carbo-acetylene blowtorch, the highest temperature common to industry."

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pope

Ma got another letter about little Herbit from my Ant Fanny today, saying in it, Wat do you think Pawleen, little Herbit is axually learning to spell. Of corse he has known the unattached alfabet in a general way for quite a wile but without the sliest ideat that the letters had anything to do with each other, but now he is quite at home with small worts of one syllable.

My husband and I worked out a system in teetaching him. In fact we are thinking of getting it patented for future generations. You mitte call it a system of association. "Now Herbit," we say, "wat does c-a-t spell?" And at the sliest sine of hesitation we say, "Come on, Herbit, c-a-t, meow." "Cat," he replies instantly. As my husband says, it gives him a sents of confidence, wich is very important in lerning anything. Of corse once in a wile its too much for his little imagination and he slips up. For instants wen we say, "S-h-e-e-p, maa, maa," he always replies, "Mama." And for "D-r-u-m, bang, bang," he invariably answers "Cook." Wich is very clever of him after all, because our new cook is forever dropping and smashing things, and my husband addresses her as "Butterfly" wich pleases her very mutch but woudent if she knew it was short for "butter fingers."

Anyway, our spelling system with Herbit is working very well on the hole, although a mayber of ours, a certain Mr. Arnold, tries to complicate it by saying to the poor child sutch things as, "Now wats this, Herbit, d-o-g moo, moo," or "C-a-t bow-wow," or "H-o-r-s-e ca-w ca-w." I declare Pawleen, the next time that man rings the bell I gonna let him in, even if my husband belongeth to the soft, calm, clear and simple Voice, such as Elias knew at the third time.

Well, Pawleen, olive oil, as the saying is. Your affectionate sister Fanny.

Fill the Gap

It would be a pity if the feeling of uncertainty and apprehension about what might happen in case of failure to elect a president, which was so strongly manifested during the recent campaign, should evaporate without inducing congress to fill a gap in our laws. Both the constitution and the federal statutes are silent regarding the course to be pursued if neither a president nor a vice president is elected by either the electoral college or congress.

It may be said that the chances are so enormous against a presidential vacancy arising in the way referred to that it is not worth while to bother our heads about it. But prudent statesmanship will desire to rule out the slightest possibility of mischief through neglect.

Two weeks ago millions of Americans were gravely discussing the peril that might arise. It did not, and may not in the future; but then again, it may. People's minds were disturbed by the fear of what might happen, and that element of doubt ought to be removed from all future presidential campaigns.

The matter should be promptly taken up by the judiciary committees of both houses of congress and the appropriate way to make good what is lacking in existing law should be agreed upon and enacted.

Worth While Verse

WHEN WE ARE OLD

While the heart is young and joyful
And the sound of laughter cheers,
While the soul responds to music,
In our nature perseveres;

While the soul responds to music,
To the song that's sweetly sung—
We to age have not surrendered,
On our youth the curtain rung.

But when nothing longer pleases
And our views are all askew;
When all things in life we picture
In a dark and somber hue;

When the rose has lost its beauty
And our hopes have run to seed—

Then, though years be small in number,
We are old, quite old, indeed.
